Four parties will contest local riding

A four-way fight for political honors is definitely assured in Premier W. A. C. Bennett's riding. Last night the South Okanagan Liberal Association set August 31 as the date for a nominating convention. Progressive Conservatives will meet tomorrow night to choose a candidate. Walter Ratzlaff, Rutland high school teacher, has already been named to carry the CCF colors, while Premier Bennett is the Social Credit candidate.

"We will definitely have a candidate in the field," declared H. S. Harrison Smith, president of the Pro-Cons. It is understood four names are presently being considered.

The Liberals, at last night's meeting decided to contest the South Okanagan seat. There was considerable discussion over possible candidates. Finally a motion, proposed by A. W. Gray and seconded by C. R. Bull was approved calling for a nominating convention.

Committee consisting of president L. L. Trippe, of Summerland, Robert Knox, L. G. Wilson, A. W. Gray, Scotty Angus and L. J. Brazzil will interview prospective candidates.

Tonight, Hon. P. A. Gagliardi will officially kick off the Social Credit campaign when he addresses a meeting in Summerland. The highways minister will speak on behalf of Premier Bennett.

City barrister opposes tests made by RCMP

City barrister G. C. Beeston, in police court this morning lashed out at RCMP making "conclusive evidence" out of "petty observations." Mr. Beeston was appearing on behalf of Richard Popp, Westbank, appearing on an impaired driving charge.

In giving evidence the arresting officer stated that he had given the accused two tests, walking the white line down the middle of the road, and a co-ordination test of touching finger tips. The accused was unable to do this.

Further evidence given by the defendant that the accused had been drinking, but also had a heart condition. Popp's mother testified that when her son was excited he usually slurred his speech, tremored and was unsteady on his feet.

The defence counsel told the court that in a case such as this these tests may not prove any value and commented, "I think it is extremely dangerous to state that these tests prove conclusive evidence."

Magistrate Marshall: "Are you condemning all tests of this kind?"

Mr. Beeston: "No, I'm not. I just do not think that a person with a heart or nervous condition can pass these tests sometimes under the best conditions."

Judgment was reserved until later this afternoon.

Local firm may get mail contract

Cariboo Air Charter this week advised council that Vancouver postal authorities have tentatively approved permission for picking up airmail from Canadian Pacific Airlines flight 4 at Penticton.

Postal officials stated there would be only one connection as it would be too early to have any outgoing mail available at Penticton, Vernon or Kelowna. Cariboo has since submitted quotations for such a service. If granted, the company plans to augment its revenue by running a passenger service to meet CPA planes at Penticton.

Parkinson critical over council not being advised of possible pressure drop

Drop in city water pressure caused acting mayor Dick Parkinson to sharply rebuke engineers for not advising city council that such a situation could be anticipated when the domestic pumping system was moved to the new location at Poplar Point.

Criticism stemmed from a discussion over the low water pressure in city mains, although it was emphasized there is adequate supply of water. The new pump station, constructed at a cost of around $120,000 was completed a couple of months ago. Pumps can handle 9,000,000 gallons a day. Daily consumption during the hot weather has been between four and five million gallons.

Water is now fed into city mains was installed. This drew sharp rebuke from Ald. Ernie Winter and changeover, water that was pumped into the reservoir, also went into the mains.

At this week's council meeting, it was disclosed pressure is around 60 pounds, a drop of 15 pounds from the old system.

Former city engineer, Harry Blackborough, stated one solution would be to increase the size of mains. As an alternative, he suggested using the pumps at the water house where the old system

The Duchess and a friend

Tossing her head haughtily like her proud namesake, the Dusky Duchess, top mare in the Kelowna Riding Club, is seen taking a workout at the Guisachan Ranch in Kelowna's outskirts.

Duchess is being handled by Tom White, well-known local athlete who has ridden her successfully in many Valley meets. Recently, in White's capable hands, Duchess topped all horses at a Vernon show, but was topped by her closest rival, Valley Belle of Kamloops in the northern city.

Owned by G. D. "Paddy" Cameron, also owner of the Guisachan Ranch, Dusky Duchess will be striving to beat Valley Belle in the Kelowna Labor Day Gymkhana.

All-day Monday closing of local stores recommended to help harvest apples

All-day Monday closing of retail stores for three weeks' commencing September 10 has been advocated to alleviate the anticipated shortage of harvest help.

Picking of the McIntosh apple crop will start the first week of September.

Tuesday night a representative group of growers, packing-house managers, labor heads, service club members and civic officials conferred to discuss the labor situation, and a committee will again meet next Tuesday with representatives of the board of trade and the retail merchants' bureau. It is hoped the latter two groups will support the suggested Monday closing of stores. Representatives of the Kelowna builders' association, service clubs and national employment service officials will also be present at the meeting.

There is also a possibility that students may be called upon to help pick apples, if the situation warrants such action.

However, school board officials stress that all students must report to their classrooms on the opening day of school, September 4. Pupils failing to report on the opening day stand the chance of being unable to register for the coming school season.

OFF TO BAD START

Service clubs agreed to help publicize the situation, and one group—Kiwanis, suggested that they make a club project of picking apples in order to raise money for the club.

One person pointed out that growers are already getting off to a bad start. He stated there were several signs out in front of orchards asking for pear pickers.

Alex Haig, local manager of the National Employment Service was somewhat pessimistic over labor requirements. He said at present there are 103 claimants for unemployment insurance. Of this number more than 1/5 are under the age of 50.

Mr. Blackborough did not come into the picture until after former city engineer George Meckling resigned his post to go to North Vancouver. The system was designed by engineer M. L. Wade, of Kamloops.

Works superintendent H. M. Thompson stated there is nothing wrong with the pump from this site due to contamination.

Railways cut freight rate on apples to Winnipeg

Canadians railways have granted a reduction of 18 cents per hundred pounds on shipments of apples from B.C. to Winnipeg, according to B.C. Tree Fruits.

The reduction, which is effective today, was welcomed by industry officials. "This can be regarded as a satisfactory conclusion to a competitive situation which has prevailed in southern Manitoba during the past year," an official stated.

This time last year there was a difference of 50 cents per hundredweight in transportation costs for apples from B.C. to Winnipeg, as compared with a haul 65 miles further to Noyes, Minnesota—a point south of the international boundary below Winnipeg.

Winnipeg receivers took advantage of the cheaper transportation by unloading cars of B.C. apples at Noyes and trucking the fruit 65 miles back to the Winnipeg market. This program continued when later rate adjustments narrowed the spread between Winnipeg and the border point to 43 cents last fall.

The current rate is $1.68 to Winnipeg compared with the previous levy of $1.86. It means a saving of about nine cents on a box of apples.

Tomato shipments to fresh fruit market almost three times heavier than 1955

Almost three times as many tomatoes have been shipped to the fresh fruit market so far this year, compared with 1955.

This was disclosed by F. N. Magee, general manager of the Interior Vegetable Marketing Agency, in reply to criticism that produce is rotting in the fields in the Osoyoos district. Total of 68,271 crates of mature and semi-ripe toms have been shipped to date, compared with 23,942 at the same date last year.

In addition 57,052 lugs of mature green tomatoes have been shipped from the valley, an increase of 30,717 over the same period.

However, Mr. Magee pointed out the season started ten days earlier than last season, but if the present movement continues to be as good as it has the last few weeks, total tonnage will exceed 1955. Already the marketing agency has exceeded last year's figures in semi and turnings. Total for the whole season last year was 57,573, whereas to-date shipments total 68,271.

CANNERY SUPPLIES
Mr. Magee emphasized canneries will take all tomatoes growers are able to supply. Prices for canneries tomatoes is $36 a ton for No. 1, and $23 a ton for No. 2 and puce grades. Growers who deliver toms to a central assembly depot get the same price. The canneries price this year is much higher than those prevailing in California, he stated.

Cucumber shipments are also ahead of last year. To date 83,783 peach boxes have been shipped, compared with 70,000 at the same date last year. Last season total shipments were 106,105 boxes.

Mr. Magee pointed out when cucumbers began to get scarce in the Osoyoos fields, the agency removed the pick-to-order and told shippers to get all cucumbers they could on the floor. "In one or two instances, we were unable to obtain orders which were loading in the Osoyoos district in time to move these cucumbers, and a few had to be dumped," he said.

Regarding reports that tomatoes were rotting on warehouse floors, Mr. Magee said he had no personal knowledge of this complaint. "Tomatoes have been on a pick-to-order since early in the season, so if tomatoes were rotting on the shippers' floors, it was because they did not adhere to our pick-to-order instructions, and had more produce on the floors than we could ship," he remarked.

TOMATOES MOVING
Tomatoes are still moving freely, although Manitoba shipments have been curtailed due to local production. Cuke shipments have also dropped off due to the Fraser Valley supplying Vancouver, and locals in Alberta taking care of the prairie business.

Answering cries over slow movement of cucumbers early in the season, Mr. Magee said around July 9-10, there were not enough to supply markets.

"Consequently buyers on the prairie markets were ordering in carloads from the U.S. The hot weather brought cukes on very fast so that by July 12 we had a surplus movement of which was brought down due to American imports. In addition Victoria hot-houses were cleaning vines and shipping 500 cases per day to Vancouver.

The situation in Vancouver cleared up within a few days and we have no reason to think that any cukes were imported into Western Canada after July 14. In other words if we had a surplus of cukes, as we did July 14, it would appear that we simply had produced more than the people in Western Canada could eat."

Apple prices lead 13.4% drop in total farm value of 1955 fruit production

OTTAWA (CP) — A sharp decline in apple prices last year led a 13.4 percent drop in the total farm value of Canada's 1955 commercial fruit production.

The fruit crops brought $39,634,000, compared with $46,000,000 in 1954. Values by provinces for 1955 figures in brackets:

Ontario $16,935,000 ($21,890,000); Quebec $5,442,000 ($8,114,000); Nova Scotia $1,550,000 ($3,032,000); New Brunswick $849,000 ($1,000,000); Prince Edward Island $188,000 ($197,000); Newfoundland $38,000 ($125,000).

The apple crop was the second highest in history, comparing with

BCHIS asks more information on maintenance costs

British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service has requested Kelowna Hospital Society for additional information regarding increased expenditures on maintenance of buildings and furnishings.

Request was made in a letter read at the board's meeting this week. The hospital society in a letter to BCHIS on July 21 requested increased maintenance costs.

The reply received from BCHIS stated the budget had been reviewed, but no explanation had been given for the 50 percent increase from $6,000 in 1955 to $9,000 this year. BCHIS meanwhile allowed an increase of $400.

Hospital rate board is now prepared to reconsider the 1956 allowance in view of the letter, but requested the hospital to provide additional information as to details of the proposed increase in expenditures on maintenance of buildings and furnishings. The secretary was instructed to draw up a list of the work to be done including the nurses residence. Details will be sent to BCHIS.

Charles M. (Scotty) Allan is reported in "satisfactory" condition in Kelowna hospital today, following a fall from a power pole yesterday afternoon.

Allan was working with a crew of three other men, replacing transformers on a power pole when a fellow-worker turned on the power. He touched the live wire with his shoulder and was knocked to the ground—a fall of about 25 feet.

Hospital officials say he suffered burns and a possible fractured back.

The mishap occurred near the K.G.E. packinghouse at Rutland.

Local hospital has deficit of $20,957

General hospital operated at a deficit of $1,114 during the month of July, bringing the total operating deficit for the first seven months of the year to $20,957, hospital board was informed last night.

Finance chairman F. J. Willis stated the bank overdraft as of Tuesday was $20,484. However, the hospital has received budget adjustments from BCHIS for the years 1954-55. He said there is still about $7,000 coming for the 1956 adjustment, and with this in hand, the overdraft will be around $13,000.

He termed the hospital financial situation as "improved". Total of 2326 persons have been admitted this year, as well as 297 new-borns which is an increase over the same period last year. Bed occupancy in July was 83 percent. Average occupancy to the end of July was 86 percent.

New park entrance gates

Erected just before the regatta, the new park entrance gates have been the subject of much favorable comment. Gone are the ugly pillars that for the past two score years proved a traffic hazard for every vehicle entering the park. In their place are attractive stone pillars, given life by small planting areas containing bright geraniums.

At night the pillars shine brightly in the reflected light from concealed globes at their bases. These new gates are completed at the Lawrence Avenue entrance and the Leon Avenue exit and another will be erected at the Broadway entrance at the foot of Bernard. Part of the extensive revamping of the park program undertaken this year, the new gates have won the general approval of the public.

Proposal for hospital improvement district causes spirited debate

A spirited verbal exchange between hospital board chairman J. I. Monteith and Ald. Ernie Winter took place at this week's meeting over the setting up of a hospital improvement district. At the same time Mr. Monteith charged the B.C. Hospital Association with taking a negative approach to the suggestion of compulsory hospital districts.

Several weeks ago Mr. Winter favor of a compulsory hospital district was requested by the board to assist and "seemed to be afraid to do so."

After discussing the question with former hospital representative, Ald. Art Jackson, Mr. Winter advised the board to make representation to the Okanagan Valley Hospital Association, with a view of requesting the B.C. hospital group to petition the Union of B.C. Municipalities to press for the formation of a hospital district.

Mr. Winter said this would show that all hospitals throughout B.C. in accord with the move. "There is no use one city yelling for a hospital district. Hospitals should have a united voice before the government will take action," he declared.

Mr. Monteith, in a verbal exchange with Mr. Winter, pointed out the Okanagan regional district comprises 12 hospitals and that on two occasions the group has gone to record requesting a compulsory hospital district. "Both times these resolutions were sent to the B.C. Hospital Association and both times they were shelved."

He said the BCHA is not an effective organization because all resolutions are usually discussed and then shelved.

Mr. Monteith said Kelowna city council has not decided itself in compulsory hospital districts.

To which Mr. Winter replied "Go about it in the proper way by getting the hospital union first, and then go to the respective councils."

CARRIES NO WEIGHT
Mrs. A. C. McPetridge suggested sounding out Glenora and Peachland regarding the improvement district. She said it is up to the local hospital board to get the movement underway. Mrs. McPetridge said a voluntary hospital district is out of the question. "The only way we will get a compulsory hospital district is a directive from BCHIS, and the only way we'll get that is a united voice before the government will take action," she declared.

Drill on gallop featured in Labor Day Gymkhana

A new high in pageantry will be set in this year's Labor Day Gymkhana, with the appearance in Kelowna of the 20-horse, matched section, Wenatchee mounted drill team, in conjunction with the two-day horse show, biggest of its kind in western Canada.

Entries for the annual show and competition are estimated at more than 150, ranging from Kamloops through the Okanagan, and down in Washington.

The Kelowna Riding Club and the local Lions join hands in the production, which takes place on Sunday in Guisachan Ranch, and Monday, Labor Day, in City Park.

A troupe of 40-50 people will accompany the U.S. drill team, occupying the whole of the Blue Bird Auto Court. Arriving in Kelowna early Saturday morning, they will stage a parade in the city streets on Saturday afternoon.

JUDGING SUNDAY

On Sunday they will put on their entire routine at the Guisachan Ranch, in conjunction with the first day of the meet. Most of the competitive and judging events will take place Sunday at the ranch, with the spectator events slated for Monday in the park.

Monday's show will be essentially the same as the routine which has earned them the title of "best in Washington" on two occasions.

Sixteen horses take part at one time in the drill, with the horses matched in sections of four, and carrying glittering trappings. Each rider bears the flag of a state or country.

The entire drill, basically military manoeuvres with innovations of their own, is done at the gallop. According to people who have seen the whole of the Blue Bird Auto Court. Arriving in Kelowna early Saturday morning, they will stage a parade in the city streets on Saturday afternoon.

Top point horse from Kelowna will probably be Dusky Duchess, the lovely mare owned by G. D. "Paddy" Cameron, many years the guiding light behind Kelowna's riding interest. Duchess will be ridden in many of the competitions by Tom White of Kelowna.

Steepest competition for Duchess will be provided by Valley Belle of Kamloops, owned by the Lalonde interests. The two mares have vied back and forth in points in every meet so far this year. Jay Lalonde will be riding Valley Belle.

The show, an annual "must" for Kelownians, has grown from just a few men and horses to the point where one prominent horse judge from Calgary, Grant McEwan, said two years ago, "There is nothing to equal this show in western Canada, barring the P.N.E."

We won, mom!

A very happy girl last Monday night was Mary Welder, captain of the Super-Valu Aces, Kelowna's senior "B" women's softball entry, when they beat Vernon F.M. Aces for the Central Interior championship of B.C.

Jr. regatta being readied

This year's Kelowna Junior Regatta, the day when the small fry take over the Aquatic premises and show the grown-ups what they can do, will take place on Labor Day, instead of the Sunday following Regatta, as in former years.

Reasons for the change, given by Junior Regatta president Joan McKinley, were the difficulty of organizing in time for the Sunday following the regatta, and the choice of the August 26 weekend Sunday by Pentleton for their regatta, leaving Labor Day itself as the best time, from their own standpoint.

The miniature water show will last from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., and will range from swimming and diving through novelty events to the "Man of the Lake" contest.

Official opening of the show will take place at 1:35 p.m., with Princess Elsie Newick, member of the Lady-of-the-Lake court.

Presentation of awards will follow the show, at approximately 4:50 p.m.

Assisting Miss McKinley in production of the show are Jackie Stinson, Nancy McPetridge, Alice Hogarth, Sharon Turk, Sheila Velters, and Sharon Butcher.

DOUBLE-HEADER

ELKS STADIUM

Kelowna

Double-header here on Sunday

Princeton Royals, who were suspected as having "shown" a double-header here this Sunday, say they are coming up to "win a couple of games."

Princeton, who started out the year with a four-game winning streak, have not ventured beyond that stage and thus the cellar-dwellers still have only four wins compared to 14 losses.

Kelowna MUST win both games Sunday, to assure themselves of a playoff berth. Although it is possible that a split may still give the Orioles a tie for fourth—the last playoff spot.

Game time is 1:30 for the first game. This is a seven-inning affair, followed by a nine-inning match. The second game will be played immediately after the first.

Orioles could place 3rd — if

Kelowna Orioles have a chance to gain a third place tie on OMBL standings by the end of the schedule:

IF . . . Kelowna win both from Princeton here Sunday; Oliver drops both to Kamloops; Pentleton takes two from Summerland.

Pentleton can take over top spot:

IF . . . Pentleton takes both from Summerland; Oliver takes both from Kamloops.

Kelowna will wind up with a two-way tie for fourth:

IF . . . Summerland splits with Pentleton and Kelowna takes two from Princeton, or, if Pentleton takes both, and Kelowna splits with Princeton.

Sir Gordon Richards, who hung up his jockey's silks about 18 months ago after booting home 4,870 winners, is finding the going tough as a trainer of race horses.

But he's still out to disprove the old belief that jockeys don't make first-class trainers.

Richards set a world record for riding winners, earned about $5,000,000 for owners and a knight-hood for himself in a great riding career in Britain. Last year, his first season as a trainer, he saddled only 13 winners and won only $9,951.

Now 53, Richards thinks it will take him at least three years to establish himself in his new job but he's confident there is room for him among the great trainers.

Thirty-four years of riding brought the pint-sized Richards wealth, fame, a country house and the friendship of a queen. He could have retired and lived well on his savings but instead he chose to stay in the game and carve out a new career.

In the United States, meanwhile, another veteran jockey is riding down the home stretch in his efforts to overturn Richards' record of 4,870 winners.

He is Johnny Longden, who served his apprenticeship on Western Canada tracks and early this month after 29 years of campaigning had a total of 4,826—only 44 short of Richards.

Now 46, Longden began riding at 16 on small tracks near his home in Taber, Alta. Riding gave him the chance to escape labor in the Alberta coal mines, where he had gone to work when he left school.

Born in Yorkshire, England, Longden came to Canada with his parents when he was two. The heavy work with the pick is credited with developing the shoulder and arm muscles partly responsible for his success as a jockey.

SMILAR CAREERS
His career in some ways is remarkably similar to that of Richards. Both worked in coal mines in their youth, though Richards' experience was in his native Wales.

They are the same height—just less than five feet—and Richards used to ride his best at 114 pounds, as Longden does.

Longden now owns an estate at Arcadia, Calif., flies two private planes and has a racing stable in partnership with Max Bell of Calgary.

Good luck tagged Longden early in his career. While riding in Vancouver he broke a leg. He went to Mexico on crutches later with his stable, and again broke the leg. In 1932 in Toronto, he was thrown from his mount and trampled on. He survived a 13-day coma and returned to the track.

While Richards did most of his riding on English courses, Longden during the last 20-odd years has concentrated on the United States.

Ok. ball finals here Friday p.m.

Tomorrow night's softball final in City Park oval promises to be a classic struggle, as both Club 13, Kelowna's senior "B" men's entry, and Vernon's Coldstreams, are in the pink of shape, and have plenty on the ball.

Club 13 went their way to the top of the city league in a tough semi-final series with the Firemen, and a final game final series with Rutland Rovers. They have a hard-hitting, tight-fielding ball club, where only a real deficiency is lack of depth in the pitching staff.

They won the South Okanagan championship in an easy double-header against a Pentleton All-Star team.

Vernon Coldstreams, whose roster reads like the Allan Cup championship hockey team, won their final against Vernon Nick's Aces in a seven-game, quarter struggle.

The teams will play a best of three series, with the first game tomorrow night in City Park at 6:30; the second in Vernon's Polson Park Sunday at 6:30 and the final game in Kelowna on Wednesday, August 29 at 6:30.

The winners of this series will be the Okanagan interior representatives in provincial play-offs.

Wedding in Dayton, Ohio of interest to Kelownians

St. Paul's Episcopal Church, in Dayton, Ohio, was the scene of an evening wedding when Florence Maribel Brown became the bride of Robert Bruce Mahood, the Rev. A. Seabrook performing the 7:00 p.m. rites.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Brown, 2120 Lansdowne Road, Victoria, and is on the teaching staff of Kelowna School District 23. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Mahood, 1634 Bowser Ave., North Vancouver at present studying at Dayton, where the bride and groom are living until they return to Kelowna to reside.

A street length dress of white polished cotton embroidered in blue and white and fashioned with a fitted bodice and a full circle skirt, was the bride's choice for her wedding. With this she wore a small white lace hat, white shoes and elbow length gloves, and carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses and white snowdrift.

Bridesmaid Miss Margaret Ritchie, of Kelowna, wore a dress of pale blue cotton lace with torso-length, fitted bodice and circle skirt, and small pleated hat in tone. White shoes and elbow-length gloves completed her ensemble, and she carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and white snowdrift.

Mr. Robert Menseker, of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., was the groomsmen. Following the ceremony a reception was held at 1520 Smithville Road, Dayton, where Mr. Bob Menseker proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Several guests also held the toast.

Rutland school teacher exchanges vows with Ontario man at mid-morning ceremony at Rutland's St. Theresa church

Of interest to both the central Okanagan and southern Ontario was the recent marriage of Norma Mary Paula, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Booth, of Ellison, to Mr. Maurice Decaire, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Decaire of Bainsville, Ontario. The mid-morning nuptials were spoken in St. Theresa Church, Rutland, with Rev. F. L. Flynn officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of nylon tulle and lace fashioned with a strapless bodice of lace above the bouffant skirt of net flouncing out from the deep lace flounces. Her bodice length jacket of lace was designed with lily point sleeves and a dainty Peter Pan collar above the row of satin-covered buttons. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a pearl-studded tiara and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli and red roses.

MAID OF HONOR

Chosen as maid of honor, Miss Aileen Decaire, the groom's sister, wore a ballerina length gown of turquoise nylon tulle fashioned with a matching bolero. Her head-dress of nylon tulle was entone and she carried a bouquet of white and mauve gladioli. Miss Joyce Piddocke, as bridesmaid, chose a ballerina length gown of pink nylon net topped with a dome-on shoulder stole. She wore a pearl-studded pink tiara and her bouquet was white and mauve gladioli.

Attending the groom were Mr. Duff Booth, brother of the bride, and Mr. Michael Barbara of Alexandria, Ontario, while Mr. A. E. Bruce, of New Westminster, and Mr. S. J. Lockyer, of Vancouver, ushered.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. A. E. Bruce, with Miss Jacqueline Fugger, as soloist.

RECEPTION IN KELOWNA

Following the ceremony a luncheon for close to 100 guests was held in St. Joseph's Hall, Kelowna. For the occasion, the bride's mother chose a twin redingote costume of navy blue floral print accented with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Centring the bride's table was a three-tiered wedding cake, baked by her cousin, Mrs. T. Carney, and decorated by Mr. George Reith, Mr. H. K. Bearst, principal of the Vernon Elementary School, where the bride taught for the past seven terms, proposed the toast to which the groom responded. Toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. "Duff" Booth.

Mr. S. J. Lockyer, master of ceremonies, read several telegrams of congratulations from friends and relatives in Bainsville, Ottawa, Honolulu and Lumbly. Father Flynn proposed the farewell toast to the bride and groom.

Servitors were Misses Joan Piddocke, Jacqueline Fugger, Shirley Marshall, Lorraine Beilert, Margaret Krause and Gertrude Herring, while luncheon was prepared by several neighboring friends of the bride and groom.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Aileen Decaire, of Bainsville, and Mr. Michael Barbara, of Alexandria, Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. D. Coton and family, of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Lockyer and Sharon, Miss Anne Carney, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gloux, all of Vancouver. Coming from New Westminster were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bruce and Mr. and Mrs. W. Booth, while other guests including Mr. and Mrs. L. MacIsaac, Mr. and Mrs. J. Copper Mountain, Mr. and Mrs. M. Gagnon, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Bearst, and Mrs. Ivy Wisemiller, of Vernon.

Following a brief honeymoon spent in the interior, Mr. and Mrs. Decaire left for their home in Bainsville, Ontario. For travelling the bride chose a nylon dress of brown floral print with a beige duster coat with shoes in tone. Complementing her costume, she wore white accessories and her corsage was yellow roses.

1 More about Parkinson critical

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 2) with the system, that the pumps are working satisfactorily. "It's a question of whether the possible reduction of pressure was discussed during the early planning stages, and no one seems to know," Mr. Trueman stated later. He defended Mr. Blakeborough, pointing out the latter was engaged to help supervise and complete the project that had already been designed, after Mr. Meckling left.

He pointed out that the new pump station is located 4,000 feet north of the city limits. "We are drawing of a lot more water during the hot weather," Mr. Meckling said, "and the pipes are not large enough to handle the demands. The system is working perfectly, but it's a matter of increasing the network of pipes," he remarked.

At council meeting this week, Mr. Blakeborough, during a cross-examining period, admitted that pressure depends upon the source of supply. Under the gravity fed system, the pressure drops considerably at the end of the line. He disclosed for the first time that residents in the far end of Glenmore are complaining over lack of water. When the pressure drops below 85 pounds, water is reduced to a mere trickle at the far end of the Glenmore system.

It was at this point that acting mayor Dick Parkinson criticized engineers for not advising council over the possible drop in pressure.

NEVER DISCUSSED

"To my knowledge, this factor was never discussed. Never once did an engineer point out there would be a drop in pressure. We had good pressure under the old system. We (council) are just a bunch of laymen, and we look to our engineers to advise us on technical problems such as this," he said. Council agreed the low pressure would only be experienced during July and August. Ald. Robert Knox did not think the situation warranted spending $100,000 on replacing mains for the sake of two months in the year.

Kelowna fire department has also complained of a drop in pressure, although Ald. Knox stated that an 85 pound pressure in a commercial area is considered satisfactory.

Ald. Winter suggested that the bylaw be amended to make it compulsory for householders to shut off lawn sprinklers when the fire alarm is sounded.

At the suggestion of Mr. Parkinson, Mr. Blakeborough will draft a preliminary report on the subject, which will be submitted to council on September 1. Mr. Blakeborough's report to council:

"... In the first instance, some comparison must be drawn as between the old system with the pumps located at the power house, and the new system with the pumps located at the power house. When pumping from the power house, the pumps were located at a point somewhat near the centre of distribution system, and were able to discharge the volume of water in several directions, such as on Water Street, north and south; along Cawston Avenue; Smith Avenue; Queensway; and direct to Bernard Avenue; and the distribution system south.

Also due to the fact that the reservoirs were floating at the end of the system, the pumps had to create a greater pressure to lift the water to the reservoirs, and at the same time overcome a greater pipe friction load. Under the new system, the pumps deliver water directly to the reservoirs, and therefore the pressure in the distribution system depends entirely on the gravity head from the reservoirs. Also the feed to the distribution is now at the extreme end of the system. This condition, along with the additional friction in the distribution system caused by the source of supply being at the extreme end, is the cause of a considerable dropping of pressure and volume when a large amount of water is being used.

"This condition is more serious from a fire protection point of view than it is from a commercial or domestic use, although complaints have come in from several areas of low pressure when lawn sprinkling was in considerable use.

"On a gravity test made on Thursday afternoon the following pressures were recorded—Hydrant at Glenwood and Pendozi, 87 pounds; Osprey and Pendozi, 85 pounds; Bernard and Vernon Road, 87 pounds.

"From these figures one can assume that for domestic and commercial use, the conditions were favorable.

"However, should lawn and garden sprinkling come in to heavy use again the trouble of low pressure and volume would again exist.

"To correct the low pressure in some districts, a very detailed study will be required of the distribution system.

"This will take some considerable time to figure out the changes necessary, and the cost of same, and it is our intention to submit a report on this at a later date.

"The suggestion from the fire brigade that connecting the discharge mains from the pumps to the main at the bottom of the mountain at street level, would remedy the present situation, I am unable to agree with. There would be some improvement but the increase in pressure would amount to the friction load of the main from the bottom of the mountain to the reservoirs, which pressure would vary according to the amount of water being pumped, and on the average would only amount to a very few pounds per square inch, and in my opinion would not warrant the expense of making the change.

"The main factor of decreased pressure and volume and still, as I have stated, the fact that the distribution system which is approximately two miles in length and one mile wide is being supplied from the extreme end of the system.

"There is no doubt but that due to the rapid growth of the city, and the many connections made to the system during the past few years, that many of the mains are now too small to meet the demands for irrigation needs, and fire protection, but as noted earlier in this report, a detailed study of the present system will be required, and reported on at a later date."

Paintings now on exhibit at library

Mrs. Ivy Goode's paintings now on exhibition at the library will continue until the end of August. Mrs. Goode has been painting for only a short time, and the wide range of subjects covered in her paintings should encourage other people who are interested in painting for their own pleasure.

Possibly the variety of subjects gives a rather mixed effect to the show, which hangs in the board room, but the interest shown is experimenting with all sorts of subject matter makes up for this, although not all the subjects chosen are the best selection for painting. The attraction in Mrs. Goode's exhibition is not so much in the technical or professional side of painting, as in the vigor and pleasure with which all manner of topics have been approached.

Mrs. Goode is probably best in her studies of buildings, and in some of her flower paintings. The direct sincerity of work in her sketches of country schools and log buildings—such as No. 2, which might have been sketched on the Indian reserve, the sawmill, and several others, is very pleasant.

Another of these happily painted sketches is a glimpse of a house, between orchard trees in blossom; the color in most of the landscapes is very good indeed. One returns to such paintings as the wooden building in No. 2, with a very real pleasure. These have been painted with a feeling for the subject that communicates itself straight through the paint to the spectator.

It pays to smile!

One Kelowna man who is sure that courtesy pays off is Greg, an employee at Ladd's Garage on Lawrence Avenue.

The other day a man came into the gas pumps for a fill-up, and Mr. Gregg gave him the full treatment, checking his oil, wiping his windshield, and sprinkling his conversation with plenty of smiles and courtesy.

When he finished, the driver, who had not been overly pleasant during the operation, broke into a smile on his own, and pressed the bell. Gregg with a handsome purple bag, containing eight silver dollars.

The driver turned out to be an Imperial Oil "mystery man", whose job is to reward men such as Mr. Gregg, who give the modern service "above and beyond the call of duty."

Where and how to get the best fishing
By JIM TREADGOLD

HELPFUL HINTS

A few hints on the care of rods and tackle may be of use to the novice fisherman. First of all, with regard to the rod: Never put away a wet rod in its cloth or aluminum case. If you do you will probably ruin a cane rod and damage the finish and bindings of the glass rod. When you put a rod away, do not tie it up tightly. Of you do, it may warp. Periodically examine your rods carefully for breaks in the finish, loose bindings, damaged guides and cracked agate ring. Either make repairs yourself or have them made immediately, or you are liable to forget them until you again want to use the rod.

All reels should be taken apart, occasionally, given a cleaning and careful oiling.

When putting line on your spinning reel, be sure not to overfill the spool. This will cause many loops of line to drop off when casting and may result in hand-up of line in the guides. Also, do not underfill the spool as this causes excessive pressure in the spool rim during the cast, resulting in shorter casts. Always check your spool tension before fishing, and set the drag to suit the strength of line or leader.

Every undersized fish you do not intend to keep should be allowed to shake itself free without even being taken from the water.

If you cannot release it in this way, wet your hand and try to free it by merely holding it gently by the lower lip or jaw.

Due to the Regatta work and holidays, we did not get out any fishing news for the past two weeks. However, little has been missed as fishing in general has been slow and spotty in the extreme heat.

Tourists are still fishing the up-country in great numbers, but the local anglers have not been out in force during the hot spell. The slow spotty fishing is not expected to change until we get a break in the weather.

Okanagan Lake—slow—a few fish are being picked up both on surface and on deep lines. No large fish have been reported. Baitcasting and spinning, with flies, plugs and spin lures and grasshoppers off the rocks is producing some fish. The golf-turf lure is taking Kokoi.

Beaver Lake—Fair—best fishing in late afternoon and evening. Oyama Lake—a few fish are being taken. Bob Baccus took one six-spinner on the flatfish, and Sam Stoeckhoff, Brilliant, B.C., landed a double of 9 lbs. 8 oz., also taken on the flatfish. The forestry department has fixed up the last mile of the road into Oyama lake, and it now is possible to travel to the lake by car and light truck.

Dee Lake Chain—Slow—a few good catches have been made in the evenings. The outlying lakes from the Dee Chain have been somewhat better with a few limits.

Request grant to help finance home for aged

Japanese Senior Citizens Association has requested a grant of $500 from council to help defray the cost of providing a house for ten old age Japanese pensioners.

The group has obtained a structure from Canada Safeway stores. However, it must be moved from the Richter Street-Bernard Avenue site by September 1. They have borrowed $3500 to start the project and assistance is also being sought from community chest and the city.

Request was tabled for one week pending further study.

TRADE LICENCE

Phyllis E. Latta was granted a trades licence by city council this week covering the operation of the picturesque coffee shop, and the bowling alley, The Bowlhouse, was formerly owned by E. J. Rabone.

TAX SALE

City council this week set September 4 as the date for the annual tax sale of city property. Property on which three years' taxes are owing, will be put up for sale.

Still city park

Kelowna city park will not lose its identity. Several months ago, council asked citizens to submit suggested names with a view of renaming the park.

Total of 50 names were submitted, and the final choice narrowed down to three names—Kelowna City Park, City Park, and Central Park.

The former was the unanimous choice of council.

Council seeks end to dust from causeway

City will endeavor to get the provincial government to dust-lay the portion of the causeway which runs through the city park.

At this week's council meeting it was pointed out there have been numerous complaints from people living in the vicinity of Harvey Avenue and Abbott St., over the dust which blows off the causeway.

The city will offer to supply the equipment if the government looks after the materials.

Acting mayor Dick Parkinson said the 30-foot stretch of road which was recently constructed to join on to the causeway road, helps to clear the heavy traffic in the park.

Suggests flashing light on Harvey, Richter street

Suggestion that a flashing light be erected at the intersection of Harvey Avenue and Richter Street, was made by Ald. Ernie Winter at this week's council meeting.

Mr. Winter pointed out there were two bad accidents within two hours. In both cases, outside residents were involved when they failed to stop at the stop sign.

Ald. Maurice Meikle pointed out that when the bridge is completed, Harvey Avenue will be part of Highway 97, and therefore it will be the government's responsibility for installing traffic lights. Meanwhile the stop sign will be raised so that it can be more prominently seen by motorists.

MARKING HARDBOARD

A dark color and extreme smoothness of hardboard makes it difficult to mark this material for cutting. Pencil doesn't show up well. A wax pencil or sharpened crayon does, particularly in a light color or bright red.

City to press for new liquor store

City council will again press for a new liquor store in Kelowna.

Board of Trade recently made a survey and six suggested sites have been tabled with council. Aldermen termed the present premises inadequate and a traffic hazard. It was pointed out other cities of comparative size have had new liquor outlets constructed in recent years.

Revenue from the local liquor store runs around $1,000,000.

Several years ago the liquor control board purchased a piece of property on Leon Avenue between Water and Abbott Street, but there has been no indication as to when the government plans to build a new structure.

SERVICE STATION

Tentative plans for construction of an Imperial Oil Station on the southeast corner of Harvey and Pendozi, were submitted to council this week.

Peach harvest nearing peak

Peak of the peach harvest is rapidly approaching, with daily deliveries for both fresh markets and canneries reaching substantial volume. Continued warm weather is bringing the crop on rapidly and in some areas growers are finding it difficult to keep up with picking. Quality of the crop is excellent. A portion of the crop is being marketed in cell packs and hand-pick cartons.

Bartlett pear deliveries are steadily increasing. Demand continues good. A quantity of the smaller sizes are being pre-cooled for eventual shipment to eastern markets.

Demand for healthy apples is satisfactory. Contrary to the situation which existed a year ago, there has been little competition on the prairie markets from other apple producing areas. Season is about two weeks earlier this year. Prunes and crabapples are also moving at a satisfactory level.

THREE READINGS

First three readings were given by city council this week to a bylaw calling for a sidewalk and curb on the north side of Coronation Avenue from Richter to Ethel Street.

Funeral services held this afternoon for well-known resident William Goudie Local legion holds picnic

Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock this afternoon for William Raymond Goudie, well-known Kelowna resident, who was drowned while on a fishing trip at Arlington Lake last Friday.

Mr. Goudie, 74 years of age, is believed to have suffered a heart attack before falling out of his boat. His body was recovered Tuesday morning by Game Warden Don Ellis and Eric Bateson.

Born in Quebec, Mr. Goudie came here 37 years ago. For some 30 years he was a logging contractor, operating his own truck and hauling logs to the Simpson mill. Later he was a Christmas tree contractor, shipping out thousands of trees all over the country for Christmas.

Funeral services were conducted at Kelowna Funeral Directors' Chapel by Rev. D. M. Perley. Interment followed in Kelowna cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers were Dr. W. J. Knox, Dr. J. S. Henderson, W. R. Maxson, H. C. S. Collett, E. M. Carruthers, Walter Hobbs, John A. Morrison, Charles Stewart, Howard Edwards and William Atkinson.

Active pallbearers were Alex Smith, Jiro Yamamoto, Don Ellis, Carl Nahn, Dan McMillan and Robert Burch.

Besides his wife, Gladys, Mr. Goudie is survived by a daughter, Norma, of Toronto, and one sister, Mrs. Blanche Merrill, in Quebec.

The first post-war picnic for Kelowna Branch No. 26 of the Canadian Legion, held last Sunday in City Park, entertained 450 kids of all ages from the war veterans down to the toddlers.

Michael Bowser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bowser took the aggregate honors in the boys' division, with Arthur Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Clark, the runner-up.

In the girls' division, Beverly Roberts and Mary Ann Clark shared top spot.

Don Appleton took the "Old Frank Bond, Bob Sutherland, and Crocks" race, winning a close decision over Percy Maundrell and Bob Sutherland.

Rose Hay won the women's race, with Laura Robinson and Jean Kennedy runners-up.

The winning tug-of-war team, in three straight pulls, was coached by Don White, and made up of Percy Maundrell, Vic Hangle, Phil Belanger, A. E. Clark, Don Appleton, and Jack Kennedy.

J. N. Thompson passes away

John Nelson Thompson, a resident of Kelowna for fifty years, where he was well-known in the past as a partner in the Morrison-Thompson Hardware, died in the Kelowna General Hospital, Tuesday, at age 85.

Born in Nova Scotia, he came to Wolsley, Sask., with his parents in 1884, and later went into the hardware business with his brother there. Coming to Kelowna in 1908, he was in the hardware business here with the late Bob Morrison until he took a farm in the Glenmore district, where he farmed until his retirement in 1940.

Mr. Thompson was predeceased by his wife, Elizabeth, in 1948, and one brother, W. R. Thompson, in 1954. Surviving are one sister, Mrs. C. K. Thompson, Wolsley, Sask., and three nieces in Kelowna: Mrs. M. McClure, and Birdie and Betty Thompson. The remainder of his family are on the prairie.

Funeral services were held at Day's Chapel of Remembrance this afternoon, Thursday, August 23, at 2:00 p.m., the Rev. D. M. Perley officiating. Cremation to follow in Vancouver. Day's Funeral Service in charge of arrangements.

NO VACANCIES
A total of 198 persons have been placed to date, he said. "At present we have no vacancies."

Last year about 1400 pickers were used in the district, including about 500 from the Kelowna area. It is indicated increased help will be needed in the local area.

Mr. Haig also reprimanded growers who were delinquent in returning circulars mailed to obtain pickers. He said that last year many did not order help until it was too late. One grower commented, "We are not crying wolf. All indications point out we won't get as many outside pickers as were sent in last year. Therefore, local help must be available if we are going to get the crop off the trees."

The meeting was notified that the B.C. Fruit Processors will be closing down during the picking season, as will the night shift of the Rutland Sawmill.

"We hope other industries will follow suit," the chairman said.

Untidy boulevards scored by council

City plans to crack down on residents who leave fire wood on boulevards for two or three days after the fuel has been delivered.

Matter was discussed at this week's council meeting after Ald. Maurice Meikle voiced a complaint over a homeowner in the 900 block on Stockwell Avenue who has left a huge pile of clay on the boulevard after the basement was excavated.

"The clay pile has been there for several months. I think we should put some teeth into our bylaw," Ald. Meikle remarked.

Acting mayor, Dick Parkinson agreed with Mr. Meikle. He pointed out that many homeowners leave fire wood piled on boulevards for several days after the fuel has been delivered. Cawston Avenue was cited especially by Mr. Parkinson. "Practically every one of the boulevard trees have been knocked down as a result of the wood deliveries," he remarked.

It was suggested that employees of the garbage department or the meter reader notify the city of any future violations.

City will lease local garbage disposal grounds

City council this week gave first three readings to the garbage disposal bylaw.

Under the proposed agreement, the disposal grounds would be leased for a one year period to Raymond Lester Care, a former Los Angeles man, who will have full charge of the disposal grounds.

A nominal charge will be made to rural residents for disposing of garbage. Local taxpayers who look after their own refuse, will be able to get a special permit at no charge. Scavengers will not be permitted on the grounds. Mr. Care will instruct residents where to dump garbage, and he will see that the area is kept in a tidy condition.

Former Kelowna resident dies in Toronto

Leonard Jasechko, Jr. EIC, a native of Poland who took part of his schooling in Kelowna, died in Toronto recently, following a lengthy illness.

At the time of his death Mr. Jasechko was special projects manager with Rogers Majestic Electronics Ltd., Toronto, and was a junior member of the Engineering Institute of Canada. His later education was obtained in Saskatchewan, where he became a student of engineering at the University of Saskatchewan, graduating in 1930 with a B. Eng. degree in electrical engineering.

Born in 1920, he was 36 at the time of his death, and had been a member of the Engineering Institute since 1949.

Mrs. Geoff Johnson awarded Palmer trophy for highest aggregate in flower show

Mrs. Geoff Johnson, of Kelowna, won the W. J. Palmer Cup for the highest aggregate points at the Kelowna and District Horticultural Society summer flower show held last Saturday, at the Aquatic. With a total of 41 points, Mrs. Johnson took 13 first prizes and several seconds and thirds. Included among her firsts was the special prize for the best gladioli spike in the show, with a splendid specimen named "Professor Goudrian", which was chosen from the glads exhibited in classes 13 to 18.

In spite of a hot, dry summer the quality of the exhibits was up to par, according to the judges, and the choice of the Aquatic for the show was excellent, the ballroom providing ample room for the exhibits without being crowded. Judges were Mr. and Mrs. E. Bennett and Bill Snow, all of Summerland, and with 39 exhibitors making a total of 260 entries, judging was not easy, as in many classes the list of entries was large.

Glenmore confers with Inland officials

GLENMORE — Glenmore Municipal council met with officials from Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd. last Friday to discuss the proposed agreement. Municipal solicitor T. F. McWilliams was instructed to take up several contentious clauses with the legal counsel for Inland Natural Gas Co., and to report on these negotiations at a later date.

On being questioned as to whether the servicing line from the north would pass through Glenmore, Cecil H. Smith, assistant to the president of Inland, advised council that although surveys had been made, as far as he knew, the route had not been decided upon. This would have a definite bearing on how Glenmore would be serviced.

Reeve P. R. Moubay, expressed optimism that the agreement with Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd. would be finalized in time for a definite proposal to be placed before the electors at the December municipal election.

Council has approved an application for rezoning of the residential area, as submitted by C. M. Lipsett. The necessary public hearing will be held at later date.

Heated debate follows offer to buy land

City council, following a heated debate, has once again decided to take a city-owned lot off the market.

Discussion stemmed after an offer was received from Okanagan Loan and Investments, to purchase the property for $5,000. Okanagan Loan was acting on behalf of a client, John Horn. The lot is located on Harvey Avenue between the Japanese Mission and the Dart Club. Mr. Horn indicated he wanted to construct an office building.

Tell of Communist spy school

A story of Communist indoctrination that was part of their everyday life is told by George and Anastasia Dedes, aged 14 and nine. They were taken by Communist rebels from a small Greek village and sent to a Communist school in Poland in 1948. Since then they, and thousands of other Greek, Yugoslav and Hungarian children have been trained in the arts of sabotage and spying, and taught only Communist propaganda. Through the efforts of their parents who fled from Greece they were released from school in Poland and now reside in Hamilton, Ont.

B.C.'s ninth pulp mill

British Columbia's ninth pulp mill—fourth since the war—commenced production this week. It is the Elk Falls Company's $15,000,000 kraft pulp mill at Duncan Bay, near Campbell River, Vancouver Island. The plant, (daily capacity 500 tons) is adjacent to the newsprint mill (buildings to left of centre) which has been in operation since June, 1952. Mountain of chips in centre foreground feeds mill with material from several Lower Mainland and Island sawmills which formerly was largely wasted. Further expansion at the site to be carried out within the next year will be addition of $7,500,000 second paper machine, construction of a 175-ton per day bleach plant, a sawmill and additional grinders for groundwood production. When completed, the project, totalling $29,000,000, will provide completely integrated forest industry at one site to give best end-use of sawlogs. Elk Falls Company is subsidiary of Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited.

PARADES RATE MORE APPLAUSE

Editor,
Kelowna Courier

Dear Sir:

Would you kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to air the following query and comments.

Just what ticks in place of a heart in the breasts of the majority of parade spectators in Kelowna. What are they thinking about the parade? So apparent they become wooden, even to the extent of their facial expressions. If they but crossed their arms and grunted out an "Ugh", it would at least be an act of recognition—if not approval.

Are they completely dumbfounded by the galaxy of beauty and talent passing in review, or are they just plain indifferent. Could it be that they are reticent, really do have feelings, but have such wonderful self control that enables them to keep their feet from tapping, and their hands from clapping when the bands go by?

Not only does the average Kelowna parade onlooker remain unmoved, but should some appreciative individual give vent to his opinion with a hearty clap, he is immediately glared at with such scathing scorn, (or is it pity), he finds his claps becoming weaker and weaker, until he withdraws his hands apologetically and with embarrassment, feeling tempted to hide them as if he were guilty of being caught giving a "Heil Hitler" salute!

Even the head of our provincial government, (who is also our number one, and loyal citizen) other parliament members, visiting dignitaries, our own civic authorities, when in Kelowna, they are present, greatly aided in the success of the venture, receive but a feeble salutation.

And what of the personnel of the bands, whose music is a delight to the ear, the beautiful young ladies does or enough to cause severe illness. Safety lies only in shelter. So the hills won't save anyone without adequate shelter and without it, death might come slowly and painfully.

The federal and provincial civil defence organizations have a plan to take care of both these problems. That it can be used to protect every community in the country from possible nuclear disaster only if every community in the country—and its inhabitants—are willing to study it and put it into practice.

But fear as this may sound, there are bright spots. Radioactivity of fall-out decays very rapidly and, generally speaking, 48 hours after it has fallen, the danger has largely disappeared. Those in proper shelters would be able to come out unharmed.

Shelter from fall-out is very simple to prepare. The basement of a house will provide about 90 per cent immunity. This may not be enough in some heavily contaminated areas, but additional immunity can be obtained by sand-bagging the basement windows and the floor above. For protection from radiation depends on the thickness of what is between a person and the source of the radiation, not the shelter's strength.

An outdoor trench with a three-foot covering of earth would give excellent immunity, civil defence officials say. In rural areas some great chunks of earth, is pulverized, thing in the form of an old "The" fireball may be three miles in diameter, and then settle to the earth, continuing all it touches. This is called fall-out.

Humans and animals subjected to fall-out radiation may receive fatal

Eighteen in a series of 24 articles it would be a waste of time to head for the hills if a nuclear war ever came to Canada—unless the hills had been prepared ahead of time. Nor would it be any wiser to lie down in resignation to die in pieces. Fall-out might get you wherever you were.

The fact about nuclear weapons, particularly the hydrogen bomb, are cold, hard and frightening. But they are real, and civil defence officials have spoken and written of them in detail and with the view that: "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free". Turning away from the facts will not change them.

Now, what are the facts about fall-out? What is fall-out?

Explosion of all nuclear weapons, including the H-bomb, has four characteristics: blast, heat, flash, immediate radiation; residual radiation. Fall-out carries the residual radiation.

The blast results from an instantaneous release of immense energy by fission and fusion of atoms. It produces an extremely high temperature within a few millionths of a second in the form of a ball of fire. Its light has been estimated to be about 100 times that of the sun.

Where the fireball touches the ground the surface becomes highly radioactive for a considerable time and almost everything, including great chunks of earth, is pulverized, thing in the form of an old "The" fireball may be three miles in diameter, and then settle to the earth, continuing all it touches. This is called fall-out.

The Victoria merry-go-round

By JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA — It's difficult to believe it, but this time next month it'll be all over—the election, that is.

The campaign, of course, has been going on for the last six months, and so the final stage will be "whirlwind" which is perhaps just as well, and then we can all settle down again, though in B.C. electioneering seems to be going on all the time, or so it has been in recent years.

It's going to be a short, but bitter campaign. Already the politicians are calling each other nasty names, and saying mean things about each other. Premier Bennett appears to be in a tizzy, for some reason or other, and says that everyone is smearing him and his government. He's in a particularly terrible rage at the newspapers, who, he says, are responsible for the election in the first place.

The Premier's snap acting in calling the election caught most of his political opponents pretty well off guard, and so they're screaming that the whole thing's unfair, that there's no need for an election at this time. The situation, to say the least, is somewhat confused, but, as is the way of democracy, the people, in the Legislature, even the Premier, will make order out of chaos.

It's always somewhat foolish to predict the outcome of elections, but at this moment it would appear Social Credit is almost bound to gain seats—likely being re-elected with perhaps as many as 40.

At dissolution of the House the other day the standing was: Social Credit, 28; CCF, 14; Liberals, four; and two independents, for a total of 48.

TWO MORE SEATS

The next Legislature, however, will have 52 seats—practically all of North Vancouver, Burnaby, Delta and Peace River having been made two-member ridings because of increases in population.

At this moment there are no M.L.A.'s for the simple reason there's no Legislature. Even the Premier, at this moment isn't an M.L.A. The government carries on, however, even though there's no House. Those who were M.L.A.'s up to dissolution are only now candidates for office, like every other candidate. They have no special privileges, no extra prestige, much as they often let on to the voters they have.

The last election was in June of 1953. The one before that was in June of 1952, and the one before that in June of 1949, making four general elections in little more than seven years.

The Premier doubtless wanted to get an election over with before another session of the House, which could be embarrassing to him. Oppositionists are determined to raise a howl about the Sommers case, but, since it's now before the courts the Premier says the matter shouldn't be mentioned, since it's sub judice.

However, Liberals are threatening it, but this time next month it'll be all over—the election, that is.

Pleasantvale homes

On Monday the Kelowna Rotary Club launches a campaign to raise funds for one of most laudable purposes ever campaigned for in this city. The Rotary Club will endeavor to raise the $15,000 necessary to successfully launch Pleasantvale Homes, a group of low rental homes for the aged of this city and district who are in the low income bracket and are unable to purchase adequate accommodation.

That the project is necessary is demonstrated by figures of the health and welfare department which show there is a definite need for the proposed housing. City council is so convinced of the need that it has given sixteen lots to the project and the provincial government has agreed to provide a third of the cost. The Rotary Club must find ten percent and the remainder will be financed over a forty-year period by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, a federal government crown company.

But the Rotary Club needs $15,000 for its commitments. It can only raise this through a general appeal to the public for financial support.

The Pleasantvale society is non-profit—except in rewards to the human spirit—even the five directors (one named by the city and four by the Rotary Club) will serve without pay. When we give to charity we want to feel that every cent we give is really helping those who need it most. And in this case, we can assure you that it is. Every cent donated to the Rotary Pleasantvale fund will go into building homes for the old, and those homes will be used over and over again. Each project is so financed that once it is constructed it can stand on its own feet. These projects will be providing homes when we are old. Maybe we will be living in one.

In Pleasantvale Homes the local Rotarians have shouldered a large responsibility. Not just for the present but for indefinite years, as Pleasantvale will remain the club's responsibility throughout its operation. Untold hours of volunteer service will be given to its construction and administration.

But that is in the future. The present great need is to place $15,000 in the hands of the Rotarians in order that this very worthy project may become another shining facet in the good life of Kelowna. The people of the Kelowna district have not yet failed to answer a worthy call. In this case the call is an extremely worthy one and the Rotarians should receive a warm and, yes, enthusiastic welcome in their approach for donations.

Just a little gambling

A joint committee of the Senate and House of Commons has recommended to Parliament an almost complete prohibition of lotteries and the distribution of tickets on foreign lotteries in Canada. The committee's recommendations will not be considered until next session.

Frankly, while it might be conceded that the number and variety of lotteries and other games of chance has gotten out of hand all across the country, we can see little hope of any solution to the problem through the medium of legislation.

It may sound trite to say that the gambling instinct, which is natural in the human species, can no more be legislated out of it than righteousness can be legislated into it, but it is nevertheless true. For that reason alone, any such legislation would be doomed to failure. For that matter we have anti-gambling and anti-lottery legislation now but how effective is it?

Any Canadian who likes to take a "flier" on a sweepstake ticket or any other form of lottery will continue to do so and take a chance (his second gamble) that the government will be unable to seize his winnings or fine him for the illegal possession of a lottery ticket.

Besides, while it may be possible to prohibit bingo games or other straight games of chance, there are many, many ways of getting around the letter of the law, which many promoters know only too well.

And if gambling is a social evil of such proportions that it makes parliamentarians worry about it, why are certain exceptions to be made for churches or other religious groups, charitable and community organizations and agricultural fairs? Can it be that the authors of this report believe that the Canadian people are so irreligious and so heartless to the basically Christian work of charity and community enterprises that they need lotteries, bingo, and other money-making gimmicks to lure them to church or cajole them into extending a helping hand to deserving people or participating in community activity? And why limit attendance or door prizes to the promoters of agricultural fairs? There are many other community events as worthy of such a drawing card to boost attendance.

By its own report, the parliamentary committee has clearly shown that it is a mixed-up as any anti-gambling reformers and more confused by the issue than the tens of thousands of people who enjoy playing a game of chance for relaxation or for what they hope to win.

There are those whom gambling of this sort has demoralized, leading farther and farther on the road to financial ruin. But these, as are those who abuse the liquor laws, safe-driving laws and a great many other laws, are in the minority. A program of public education and commonsense control would serve the purpose better.

For women only

The disturbing revelation that women's feet are fairly rapidly growing bigger fortifies our suspicion that from time to time the less buoyant among our biologists must feel like throwing in the towel. Their evolutionary lore, built with great pains and labor, has all along taught that unused anatomical parts tend to shrink, to become atrophied and ultimately to vanish. If ever this theory had ample test it would seem to have come in the present rugged age of power-operated push-buttons—and especially to all our walking parts, with the garage door but a nudge away from the living room.

And yet, women's shoe authorities now tell us that whereas fifty years ago the average size woman's shoe was 4½ it has now expanded to a 7A. Spectacular as this may sound, it need scarcely have been a surprise. To any who have lived through this lugubrious half-century the mysterious progress of "sample shoes" from a one-time 3A to a 4D or thereabouts ought to have been a forewarning.

Exchange vows at double-ring ceremony

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT LOUIS WILSON

EAST KELOWNA — The Church of the Immaculate Conception, Kelowna, was the scene of a pretty wedding solemnized at 10:00 a.m. on July 21, when Rose Lorraine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Schn, of Kelowna, was united in marriage to Robert Louis Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, of East Kelowna. Rev. J. A. Cunningham officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white lace over satin, with a full skirt styled with a deep flounce of pleated tulle; a fitted bodice and a lace bolero finished with a Peter Pan collar and lily-point sleeves. Her embroidered veil of illusion net fell the full length of the skirt, and was held in place with an embroidered coronet set with pearls. Wearing her groom's gift of a gold locket with earrings to match, she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. M. Kabatoff, the bride's sister, was matron of honor, and the groom's sister, Miss Marion Wilson, was the bridesmaid. Mary Ann Morrison was the flowergirl, and the ring-bearer was the bride's nephew, Randy Schn.

Mrs. Kabatoff wore a ballerina-length dress of blue net over satin, and inserted in the full skirt were lace motifs, while the fitted bodice was styled with a lace bolero. Her headpiece was of blue net petals and beads on tone, and her bouquet was composed of yellow Marguerites.

Miss Wilson chose a dress of pink lace over satin, in ballerina-length, the front panel of the full skirt being of pleated tulle. The lace bodice featured shoulder-straps of gathered lace. Pink petals and matching beads were her headpiece, and her bouquet was of white Marguerites.

HOLD RECEPTION — The little flowergirl wore a dainty dress of yellow nylon, with a band of white carnations in her hair, and she carried a nosegay of yellow and white flowers with matching ribbons; the ring bearer was attired in a blue fleeced suit.

Mr. M. Kabatoff and Mr. Walter Schn were groomsmen, and ushers were Mr. Lionel Luman and Mr. Adam Streifel. Mrs. M. Landsdowne was the organist, and Mr. Larry Schlosser was soloist.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Schn chose a dress of navy blue crepe, and white hat and white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Wilson wore a white dress of polished cotton printed in a floral design, a white hat and white accessories. Completing her ensemble were a blue duster, matching shoes and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a luncheon for members of the immediate families was given at the home, and at 6 p.m., a supper was held in the Italian Hall, where the bride party received the 125 guests. The bride and groom entered the hall to the strains of the wedding march, and Fr. Cunningham presided.

Early September wedding forecast

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bengert, 2210 Aberdeen St., Kelowna, announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Mr. Al Pyett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Pyett, of Melfort, Saskatchewan.

The marriage will take place in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Kelowna, on Saturday, September 1, at 10:00 a.m.

Coffee chatter

by DOROTHY GELLATLY

Old books weren't the only interesting things I found in the office of the Regional Library when invited by Librarian Mrs. Froulkes, that gradually is being paid for. I explored her private domain. No, indeed! As a matter of fact, there was a very special document—suppose it might be called, hanging on the wall, that I want to investigate further, and tell about later. It is a framed copy, or it might even be an original, of the record for the year 1893, of the Kelowna Circulating Library, and was presented to the library by the late "Lish" Bailey.

Mrs. Froulkes has treasured from all parts of the world, including a wooden bowl, the centre of which is made from the wood of S.S. Beaver, the first steamboat to ply the Pacific coast, and launched about 1845. Wrecked in 1883 in Burrard Inlet, the Beaver disappeared in 1892. Then there's the gavel also containing a centre of wood from the Beaver, which was given to the library board by C. K. Morrison, superintendent of the Public Library Commission.

There's a charming pottery bowl made by Reg Dixon, instructor in pottery and ceramics at the Vancouver Art School, and a piece of coral from a reef near Capt. Cook's monument on one of the Hawaiian Islands, which spot is British property.

On another part of the wall hangs some lovely paintings of local scenes—one, on loan from Edric Oswell, is one of the lake-going tugs with its barges, while Mrs. Grigsby has a landscape or scene, and a still life. Nearby hangs a photograph by the well-known Donovan Clemenson, of Armstrong, which was given by Mr. Clemenson to Mrs. Froulkes. Particularly applicable to the library, it depicts Mrs. Clemenson and her small daughter in studious pose. Another painting is one of Sylvia Sutton's early works.

In another part of the room is a charming painting by Gwen Lamont of the Anglican church at Okanagan Mission, and on the same wall a landscape by Cyril Taylor. A map of Kelowna, drawn in 1939 by Gustav Hansen while he was working for the city, is interesting. Two oils, loaned by the Kuipers of Okanagan Mission, depict modern art, and while they must mean something, these subjects were definitely over my head!

Much more understandable was the map showing the territory served by the Okanagan Regional Library, which extends all through the Okanagan and up into the Shuswap country; Three Valleys, Craigellachie, to Princeton, and almost to Kamloops. Up in the Shuswap the library van travels as far as the roads will take it, and very well.

Whatever figure the mercury happens to reach, the busy meal-maker wants to serve her family tempting and nutritious food. In keeping with this wise approach to the hot-weather food problem, here are three recipes that will keep your family well fed and cool. Another point to recommend them, is that they can be prepared in a hurry, thus eliminating the havoc of a last minute rush. Too, they are all good picnic fare!

Ham and macaroni salad can also be made with any handy canned meat. Chicken and noodle salad is fine made with canned chicken, and if you are serving it to small children, it is a simple matter to run a knife through the noodles before adding them to the other ingredients. Macaroni crab meat salad is an economical departure from the usual run of salad dishes.

HAM AND MACARONI SALAD

8 oz. ready-cut macaroni
1 cup diced ham
2 1/2 cup sweet pickle, chopped
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped celery

Lettuce

Hard-cooked eggs and radishes for garnish.
Cook macaroni uncovered in rapidly boiling salted water until tender. Drain and rinse well in cold water. Add meat, celery, pickles, salt and French dressing, toss lightly and chill. Serve on lettuce leaves and garnish with egg slices and radish slices. (Serves 6.)

CHICKEN NOODLE SALAD

4 oz. medium noodles
1 cup cooked chicken sliced
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup French dressing
1/2 cup oil mayonnaise
Salt
Paprika
Lettuce

Cook noodles uncovered in rapidly boiling salted water until tender. Drain in cold water. Marinate noodles, chicken and celery very lightly in French dressing and chill. When ready to serve combine with salt, paprika and mayonnaise and arrange on crisp lettuce. (Serves 4.)

MACARONI CRAB MEAT SALAD

English girl sets record crossing Lake Ontario

Another record is broken by Brenda Fisher, the English girl who already holds the women's record for crossing the English channel and the marathon Nile swim. The second girl to cross Lake Ontario, her time was 18 hours, 51 minutes, two hours and five minutes faster than Marilyn Bell. Swept off course, she came ashore at an unfrequented part of the Toronto waterfront just as a 90 mph storm broke. She walked ashore into the arms of a lifeguard, then turned around, apparently still fresh, and swam to her escort cruiser.

The regatta city is enjoying the biggest tourist season on record. This is borne out by the special traffic report submitted to council by traffic officer L. A. N. Potterton.

During July, he estimated 50 per cent of the parking space in the downtown area was occupied by tourists. Mr. Potterton handed out a total of 233 courtesy parking tickets. There were 160 infractions prosecuted resulting in fines totalling $400.

Mr. Potterton noted that drivers are becoming more courteous in the manner in which they drive.

Pear harvest in full swing this week

Pear harvest is now in full swing according to agricultural officials. Recent survey disclosed all tree fruits are sizing well, although the hot July weather is having its affect on winter-damaged trees.

In the North Okanagan, peach plums are being harvested and early peaches will be ready in a few days. Due to the light peach crop, most of the fruit will be going to roadside stands. Pear crop looks good. All vegetables are available in quantity and field tomatoes are moving in volume. Silverdick and full planted onions are being harvested.

EARLY POTATOES
Early potatoes and fall-planted onions have been cleaned up. Tomatoes are moving and canneries will soon be into full operation. Beans are at their peak, but harvesters are urgently required.

Harvesting of canneries apricots in the Westbank area is completed. Fisher peaches have been picked and growers are starting on Rockesters. Main harvest of V peaches will start next week. Season is about two weeks ahead of last year. Sizing of tree fruits was slowed down during the July hot spell. In the Pentleton area early peaches are moving and Rockesters are starting. Prune crop shows promise. Peach harvest is in full swing in the Okanagan district. With lack of orders for tomatoes, the ground crops in this area are about over as far as fresh fruit is concerned.

Tip on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

The remembrance of a trip is even more pleasurable when it is tangible.

Now you don't have to go to souvenir shops to obtain loads of tangible reminders of your experiences. One family I know brought back some unusual plants which were growing wild along the way. These were kept in small cardboard boxes in the back of the car with some of the original soil. When the family arrived home, the children not only learned how to transplant and care for their living souvenirs, they also brought them to school and used them to help describe their trip.

When it isn't feasible to bring back plants, a camera with portrait lens attachment will capture forever the beauty of native flowers and plants. Or, if you have a bit of talent, a sketchpad or water color set provides still another means for obtaining personal, tangible remembrances.

Some people collect menus, matchbooks, shells or unusual stones. Even bugs can be mounted or mounted to make useful and attractive displays at home. I know one traveler who takes along portable recording equipment to capture bird songs, characteristic sounds and conversations en route.

WHAT ABOUT GROUND BEEF?

Ground Beef, like any other commodity, can be made to sell for any price. Excess fat is only worth about 2¢ per pound — so, naturally the more fat that is included the lower the price. There are lean meat items, such as Beef Hearts, that cost less than the Pure Top-Grade Beef — that may be included in Ground Beef and, of course, if they are included, Ground Beef may be offered to the consumer at lower retail.

However, when you see Ground Beef offered for sale at your favourite IGA Market you can be sure it is made from Pure Top-Grade Beef. Our expert IGA Beef Buyers see to that. Serve IGA Ground Beef with confidence. Priced for Better Value!

Glenmore

GLENMORE — "Join the Navy and See the World", is certainly proving to be true for ABSW Wayne Henderson, who is home on 30 days leave from his ship HMCS Ontario. Wayne has just returned from a two-month training cruise to Ecuador. He is the son of Chas. Henderson, Glenmore orchardist.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Elliott, of Vancouver, were guests at the home of Reeve and Mrs. P. R. Moultry, last weekend.

Receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, are Mr. and Mrs. R. Evans. Mr. and Mrs. J. Snouffer, are the proud parents of a baby daughter, Janet Patricia. Receiving congratulations on a newly arrived son, are Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson.

Mrs. Walter Bohren and daughter, Beverly, are visiting Mrs. Bohren's brother-in-law, and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wm Rogers, in Victoria.

Gary Katker and two friends, of Ladner, called on his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Purdy last weekend, en route home from a trip through the Cascades to Nelson, returning by way of the Monashee, and the Hope-Princeton highway.

Mrs. Gordon Burton, and two daughters Carol and Lynn, left last week for Vancouver, where Mrs. Burton will visit her father who is ill.

The sympathy of the whole municipality is extended to Mrs. W. R. Goudie and daughter, Norma, on their recent bereavement.

C. T. D. Russell, long time Glenmore resident, is a patient in Kelowna General Hospital.

Penticton cries:

PLEASE! Say it isn't so!

The dispute over which Valley may be that the containers of the fruit you displayed bore "Kelowna" as their origin. The fruit, however, well may have been grown and packed anywhere in the 120-mile stretch of the Okanagan Valley.

A Canadian mail order house seems to think so as it recently displayed in Toronto a window full of fruit carrying a streamer to the effect "From the Famous Kelowna Valley".

This display was reported to the Penticton Board of Trade by an ex-Pentictonite working in Toronto. Howard Patton, secretary-manager of the Penticton Board of Trade and the Tourist Bureau, immediately wrote the company and sent a small pack of Peach City peaches.

Part of his letter follows: "A loyal Penticton exile in Toronto reports his sad separation made more infuriating by a recent display in your store."

Now Kelowna, a city 38 miles north of us, is beloved by Penticton as Toronto is by Montreal, Vancouver or its other metropolitan contemporaries, so we must draw to your attention the heresy you are spreading, albeit innocently enough. "If only you had had the pleasure of a buying trip for that fruit in your window you would have discovered there is no 'Kelowna Valley'."

There is in British Columbia a beautiful OKANAGAN VALLEY in which are situated three major cities — Vernon, Kelowna and Penticton, the largest of which, in population and area, is Penticton.

Also, you would have discovered that all three areas alike produce the world's finest apples.

Now our loyal exile left your window display in such a rage he did not see to report what fruit you featured. If it was apricots, Penticton is the centre of the only commercial apricot acreage in Canada. "If it was peaches—well, even Kelowna calls us 'The Peach City'."

Our annual celebration is the 'Peach Festival'. To further indicate our peach pre-eminence—the 1955 world hockey champions were the Penticton V's, named for the three famous local peach varieties, Vedettes, Valiants and Veterans, and coincidentally, apt names for a team that beat the Russians.

ORILLIA, Ont. (CPI) — A local resident found he could not get his car out of his garage because the works department was tearing up the road directly in front of his driveway. He promptly got on the phone and argued that the town should pay for him to take a cab to and from work. He lost.

Gaglardi wins Windermere board support on Rogers Pass route after answering many questions

INVERMERE — Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi faced the Windermere Board of Trade with an array of facts and figures to counter the barrage of questions flung at him by Jumbo Pass enthusiasts who disagreed with his choice of Rogers Pass for the Trans-Canada Highway.

Pith of Mr. Gaglardi's address were these statements: "I believe that one day there will be a route through Jumbo Pass but not now—certainly not now."

"The Jumbo Pass has received exactly the same serious consideration as Rogers Pass."

"We have considered the lesser expense of the Rogers Pass route because the major portion will be financed by the federal government."

"But we have considered also the snow conditions, slide areas and cost of maintenance and from every point of view it seems advisable to build the highway over Rogers."

"The decision has been made strictly on engineering basis."

"I believe that the Rogers Pass route when built will be in use all winter."

Mr. Gaglardi further stated: "I said I would bring my engineers here and would back up my decision with facts and figures and that is what I have done. What more can a man do?"

The meeting warmed up as question after question was flung at Mr. Gaglardi but he had one strong argument to face each. His statements were based on engineers' figures and he said none but an engineer was qualified to argue them.

Dr. F. E. Coy of Invermere summed up the meeting: "As a board of trade, we started five years ago to push Jumbo as an alternative to the Big Bend Highway. We knew Mica dam would be built and the Big Bend would be flooded out. At that time no one suggested a road could be built through Rogers Pass. Things move fast these days. Now Mr. Gaglardi has shown us such a road can be built and serve the purpose intended. I think we should accept his decision."

Appreciative laughter greeted the spectator who asked the highways minister: "The CPR put its hand in Rogers Pass and lost some fingers. Aren't you afraid to put your hand in?" Mr. Gaglardi: "No, I'm not. Rogers Pass as a railroad route is a different thing from a highway route. The problems are different. We can be 'way above the slide areas with a highway.'"

Following the meeting, board president L. S. Oulton issued this statement: "This board feels that Mr. Gaglardi has given earnest consideration to his choice of Rogers Pass and as he assures us, the pass can and will be maintained open the year around to better serve Canadians, the board will accept his decision."

The meeting was well attended by residents of many district points and at times threatened to get very "warm". It was at all time good-humored and reasonable. Norman Zapf, assistant location engineer, who had made the reconnaissance survey of Jumbo on foot and also aerial surveys, with Mr. Gaglardi, was present. Boyd Affleck of Nelson.
